

A technical diagram showing a cable with two conductors being connected to a terminal block. The conductors are inserted into the terminals of the block, which is mounted on a vertical support. The diagram illustrates the correct wiring configuration for the cable.

